ALMOST ANOTHER THELLUSSON CASE,-The Dutch papers are now discussing an extraordinary will, made at Amsterdam 150 years ago, by a Jew, named Jacob Pereyra. Out of his immense wealth, he allowed only 20,000 gilders annually to his widow and to the wardens of his synagogue, who, after 150 years, rendering an account of their vote 100,000 gilders to the endowment of a | door of the Court House of this County. certain charity, and then to divide the remainder in equal proportion between his heirs. The 150 years will expire in February, 1861, and the descendents are summon-June next, to receive an account of the trust. The greater portion of the securities which 40 per cent., are said to have become almost France, impaired their value, while the settlement of the national debt at the Restorawealth of Pereyra, instead of attaining in 150 years the colossal dimensions expected by the testator, has shrunk into a mere nothing, illustrating once more the lesson so impressively taught by the Thellusson of this County.
